

Industry Classification Reference Guide

How to use NAICS codes to determine your client's industry

Industry classification on the Broker Platform is based on the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS), a standardized numerical categorization of businesses. Every type of business has a unique six-digit NAICS code that corresponds to its sector and primary activity.

At-Bay uses the first two numbers in every NAICS code to classify businesses on the Broker Platform. If you're ever unsure of how to classify your client's business, use the NAICS Identification Tool to cross reference the NAICS code with our reference guide below:
